Major Employers in the Region

This month we are focussing on the Chemical Process industry with an overview of its importance to the North East Economy and potential opportunities for employment.

The North East of England Process Industry Cluster (NEPIC) was created and is owned by its member companies to represent the companies and supply chain of the Process Industries in the region.

NEPIC is an organisation that represents 500 Pharmaceutical, Biotechnology, Speciality, Polymer & Rubber, Petrochemical & Commodity Chemical companies based in North East England. Furthermore, there are at least an equal number of companies in the supply chain of these industries based in this region making this a major economic Cluster. The combined economic power of NEPIC companies and their importance to North East England cannot be over emphasised.

They generate in excess of £10bn of sales and represent 30% of the regions industrial base, employing about 40,000 people directly and impacting indirectly on the income of a further 280,000. NEPIC companies have significant presence in all sub regions of North East England - Northumberland, Tyne & Wear, Durham and Teesside.

NEPIC member companies are currently investing a further £7bn into the region by 2015. This expansion, together with the current demographics within the sector requires the industry to attract some 16,000 new employees into the sector. Through NEPIC the regions process industry companies are working to promote the attractiveness of this sector as a career opportunity and develop new routes to obtain a career in this well paid sector.
