Regional Overview

Scotland covers a large and diverse geographical area with the majority of the population and the jobs being across the Central Belt which includes the major cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow. Other population hot spots include the cities of Dundee, Inverness and Aberdeen.

Each of these areas has its own varying set of employment factors which you need to take into account when job searching. Therefore, it is beneficial for you to keep up-to-date with local business news and sign up with local job search websites to get relevant, up-to-date information to aid you in your search for employment.

Openreach

Openreach has revealed plans to create at least 275 new engineering jobs in Scotland during 2021. The company said the new roles, based in locations across the country, will enable it to continue improving service levels across existing networks while accelerating the roll-out of ultrafast 'full-fibre' broadband. Currently, full fibre builds are already underway in dozens of locations across Scotland, including Aberdeen, Ardrossan, Edinburgh, greater Glasgow, Kilmarnock, Penicuik, Ellon, Inverurie, Kelty, Lanark, Findhorn and Elgin. Orbex

SPECIALIST engineers based in Forres have announced private investment of $24million (£18m) which could see more than 200 jobs created in the area. The funding from the UK's most active investment company, BGF, and one of the largest venture capitalists in Europe, Octopus Ventures, will also see space rocket builder Orbex through to their first launch from Sutherland spaceport in 2022. An Orbex spokesman confirmed the company is taking its first steps towards building a new 5000sqm headquarters and production facility at its site on Forres Enterprise Park, a facility roughly four or five times the size of the existing one. New world-class centre for film' for Scotland to create up to 300 jobs

New plans for a new "world-class centre for film" in Scotland which are expected to create up to 300 jobs have been unveiled, despite a cinema meltdown due to the Covid crisis. The move for the proposed New Filmhouse in Festival Square, Edinburgh are being pushed forward following a four month consultation period. The Centre for the Moving Image, the charity which incorporates the Edinburgh International Film Festival, and the Filmhouse in Edinburgh, that put forward the proposals, hope that if approved, construction will begin in 2023 and that it will be complete in 2025. Stornoway terminal plans and 200 jobs 'tremendous news for Outer Hebrides and Scotland'

More than 200 jobs are expected to be created through the development of a deep water terminal in the Outer Hebrides that can accommodate major cruise ships. The project includes a facility for cruise ships up to 360 metres in length, a new deep water berth to cater for larger cargo vessels and development land for a range of uses such as industrial processes and decommissioning. Preparation work will now begin on the Stornoway Deep Water Terminal with Rural Economy Secretary Fergus Ewing confirming £49 million investment from a number of partners to strengthen transport links and support a range of diverse industries in the Western Isles.
