Employment Bulletin

Scotland March 2021

On behalf of the Career Transition Partnership (CTP), welcome to the Scotland Employment Bulletin, which will provide you with the latest jobs and business news from across the region and highlights a selection of the latest regional vacancies on our job site, RightJob.

In addition to this bulletin, there are plenty of other resources available to assist you in your job search: the monthly Focuse-newsletter provides job-finding, resettlement and training news via email, our bespoke Industry Sector Guides are regularly updated with the latest industry news, and the CTP website is full of useful tips, advice and dedicated employer microsites, where you will find information from a range of companies with ongoing opportunities for ex-military personnel.

*Please Note: We make every effort to ensure that resources, information, and vacancies are accurate and up to date. However, as information is subject to change you are advised to check material facts and dates. Any website links are used to provide further information and are not intended to signify that we endorse such websites and/or their content.

Regional Overview

Scotland covers a large and diverse geographical area with the majority of the population and the jobs being across the Central Belt which includes the major cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow. Other population hot spots include the cities of Dundee, Inverness and Aberdeen.

Each of these areas has its own varying set of employment factors which you need to take into account when job searching. Therefore, it is beneficial for you to keep up-to-date with local business news and sign up with local job search websites to get relevant, up-to-date information to aid you in your search for employment.

LumiraDx

A medical diagnostics firm is creating hundreds of jobs in Scotland to help the fight against coronavirus. Michael Page, a global recruitment specialist brand within PageGroup, has announced it is recruiting for a total of 300 new jobs for LumiraDx. It is claimed the roles will be crucial in the UK's continued response to the Covid-19 pandemic through improved diagnosis and testing for the virus while vaccinations are rolled out nationwide. The new manufacturing roles will be spread across two facilities in Scotland operated by LumiraDx, an expanding medical diagnostic technology company which develops and produces antigen and antibodies tests for coronavirus and other health conditions. Read more.

Binn Group

A new 'energy from waste' facility in Scotland is set to support 230 jobs in construction and operation after investment by Iona Capital. Iona is investing in Binn Group's 8.6MW plant at its Binn Eco Park near Perth, which will provide power to existing occupiers of the industrial park and export power to the National Grid. Construction of the EFW plant, which received planning approval in December 2020, is scheduled to start later this year, with the start of commercial operations earmarked for 2024. The new plant is intended to process 84,900 tonnes of residual wastes a year, using moving grate combustion technology. The plant's electricity and heat outputs, which can be hot water or steam, will be used within the eco park or further afield to support net zero targets. Read more.

New world-class centre for film' for Scotland to create up to 300 jobs

The new owner of BiFab plans to bring more than 600 new jobs to Fife. Infrastrata has acquired the Methil and Arnish yards and other assets of the collapsed Kingdom manufacturer Burntisland Fabrication (Bifab). Infrastrata have ambitious plans to create up to 1,000 new jobs across the sites. A company spokesman said: "We are projecting over 400 new jobs at the Arnish site and over 600 new jobs in Methil with additional apprentices at both sites. "We are keen to employ locally and will work with local training establishments to ensure we have an adequately skilled workforce." Read more.

Infrastrata has acquired the Methil and Arnish yards and other assets of the collapsed Kingdom manufacturer Burntisland Fabrication (Bifab). It has immediately saved 29 jobs, with workers brought back from furlough to maintain the sites. Infrastrata have ambitious plans to create up to 1,000 new jobs across the sites. A company spokesman said: "We are projecting over 400 new jobs at the Arnish site and over 600 new jobs in Methil with additional apprentices at both sites. "We are keen to employ locally and will work with local training establishments to ensure we have an adequately skilled workforce." Read more.

Scottish Marine Technology Park

Work has begun on a new marine technology park that is expected to support more than 1,000 new jobs in West Dunbartonshire. The area's MP has hailed plans for the Scottish Marine Technology Park (SMTP), on the site of the former Carless oil refinery in Old Kilpatrick, after the Scottish Government approved a grant of nearly £2 million for the project. Martin Docherty-Hughes recently met Malin Group managing director John MacSween to discuss the progress of the project so far. The government grant of £1.98 million comes from the Scottish Government's Clyde Mission fund – a £10m programme to regenerate the banks of the river between the east end of Glasgow and Gourock and bring new and sustainable jobs to the area. Read more.

New River Clyde Bridge

A new bridge is joining the family at the River Clyde, stretching all the way from Renfrew to the boundary between Glasgow and West Dunbartonshire. As part of the Clyde Waterfront and Renfrew Riverside project, building the bridge will create 700 new and existing jobs to complete its construction. It's planned to start in spring, and it is expected that it will take three years to complete. There's also a new road through Renfrew connecting the bridge to the Advanced Manufacturing Innovation District Scotland (AMIDS) and enhanced walking and cycling connections spanning from Renfrew to Yoker train station. The construction contract is currently being finalised and will see all subcontract and supplier work over £10,000 publicly advertised, with supply chain events to encourage bids from local companies. Read more.

The Partner Career Support Programme

Did you know the CTP are now delivering career support for Partners and Spouses? The Partner Career Support Programme (PCSP), the MoD's pilot to help Partners understand and plan their own career path, is open to anyone whose partner has served for 4+ years and is still in service on 1st April 2021. Applications are open until 31st March 2021. Find out more and apply here https://www.ctp.org.uk/partner-programme Here's what one of our Partners had to say ....

The programme has been absolutely fantastic so far! The MyCareerPath platform is full of information, guidance and exercises to keep you engaged and on track with your progress to achieving career success. It is simple and easy to use but provides a wealth of different resources and has really helped boost my confidence after a career break.

The best part of the programme by far is having my own personal career mentor, Bridie, who has helped guide me through the programme content, listened to my thoughts and feelings and given me a clear, focused plan of next steps to help me achieve my end goal. The programme allows a great deal of flexibility so you really can get as much as you want out of it, at a time that works around your life, which is perfect for me!

The programme also offers a variety of webinars and virtual employer events which have been a fantastic way to find out more about 'military friendly' companies and what they have to offer. It has opened my eyes to employers that I may not have considered in the past, as well as other ways of working that will fit with my family life.

I cannot recommend the programme enough and am extremely grateful and pleased to be a part of it!
